INSTITUTE AT MONTROSE.

Susquehanna County Teachers En joy Interesting Sessions.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Montrose, Oct. 17.—The teachers' in stitute, in session here this week, is the all-absorbing theme of conversation and is being attended by a large number of our citizens. The musical and literary recital of the Rogers-Grilley combination at the armory on Monday evening was very classical, and of great merit. Mr. Rogers, as an harpist, and Mr. Grilley, as an elocutionist, both proved themselves to be artists. They were greeted by a large audience.

Yesterday morning's session opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. H. B. Benedict, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this place. The real work of the institute was opened by Dr. Yoder, of Chicago. who took the place of Dr. Willis, who is detained at his home by illness. Dr. Yoder gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the subject of "Im-Following Dr. Yoder, Eliza- dale. refreshed the teachers with several recitations which were exceptionally fine and showed Mrs. Gill to be a most cultured elecutionist. The institute was, at this point, divided into sections. In the first section Dr. Ferris spoke on "Arithmetic" and Professor Larrabee treated the subject of "Source Method in Teaching History." In the second section, 'Adolesence" was the subject of Dr. Yoder, and Dr. Davis' subject was "Life and Plant Relation." Those in the third section heard Dr. Davis on the same subject, and Dr. Ferris talked on "Arithmetic."

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Yoder continued his subject of the morning, "Impulses," and Dr. Ferris gave a splendid address on "Manners and Morals." Mrs. Gill's subject, "Voice Building," was handled in a delightful manner, and then the sectional work was again taken up, Professor Larrabee and Dr. Davis continuing their subjects of the morning.

Last evening the armory was packed to the doors with people eager to hear something good. Their fifty-seventh Dr. Nacy McGee Waters, the noted anniversary on Monday evening, was divine and lecturer. His subject was "Baked Beans and Brown Bread." The Darius' Parlor Minstrels entertained lecture was a happy blending of wit the large audience most delightfully, and wisdom, and Dr. Waters won a with John Clark as interlocutor and sure and lasting place in the affections | John Carroll and Robert M. Darius of Susquehanna county teachers and as end men. There was fun galore, the people of Montrose. Solos were rendered by Ed. K.

DR PIERCES GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

"I have been thinking of writing to you for some time, 'writes Mrs. W. D. Benson, of Maxton, Robeson Co., N. C., "to let you know what a wonderful thing Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery did for my little boy. He was taken with indigestion when he was a year and a half old, and he was under the doctor's treatment for five long years. We spent all we made for doctor's bills, and it did no good. He could not eat anything only a little milk and cracker, sometimes even this would make him sick, and he got very weak; could not sit up all day, and I gave up all hope of his ever getting any better. Looking over one of your books I noticed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery reccommended for indigestion. We bought some and gave to our boy. Two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured him. He is well as can be, and can eat anything that he wants and it does not hurt him. He has not been sick a day since, and it has been three years since, he took your medicine. years since he took your medicine. I pray that God will always bless you and your medicine."

Interesting Facts About Aguinaldo's Representative in America.

E. Curtis in Chicago Record. Sixto Lopez, the Filipino who has recently arrived in the United States and is expected to take the stump for Bryan, is well remembered in Washington, where he spent several months during the Spanish war as the private secretary of Agoncillo. He is a bright, quick, talented young man of very small stature-so small that he looks like a dwarf. He has a good face and pleasant manners, and made himself agreeable to everybody he met in this city. Indeed, he was believed to be superior intellectually, as he was more attractive personally, to his chief. He also showed more moral When Agoncillo learned from the newspaper correspondents that the war department had a copy of a dispatch he had sent to Manila urging Aguinaldo to make hostile demonstration against the American forces for effect upon the United States senate, which was about to vote upon the Paris peace treaty, he took the first train for Canada. He did not stop long enough to pack his trunk, but ran away with no baggage but a small satchel. Lopez remained here for several days. He met the newspaper men with self-possession and tact, and when he at last retired from the city he did so with dignity and in a formal manner. It was afterward learned that he had urged Agoncillo to do the same, but the latter, having had experience with the tyrannical methods of the Spanish government, did not dare take any chances.

While Lopez was in Washington he made the acquaintance of several members of the senate and house of representatives, and got a pretty fair idea of American politics. He was also in frequent communication with Andrew Carnegie and other oponents of the president's policy. At one time Lopez attempted to persuade Mr. Quesada of the Cuban junta and Dr. Henna, a volunteer representative of Porto Rico, to join the Filipinos and present a united resistance to the government of the United States. There were several conferences on this subject, and on each occasion he submitted earnest arguments in favor of a simultaneous revolution against the American authority in all of the "newly acquired territory." Everything said at these conferences were promptly reported to the war department, and hence the military authorities were not surprised when they learned that Agoncillo had recommended a hostile demonstration by his fellow-countrymen. It is an interesting fact that this telegram, which, by the way, was not intercepted, came to the knowledge of the secretary of war through private and unofficial sources about three days after it had been sent.

THE USES OF CACAO.

Vast Possibilities for This Commodity in the Market. South American Journal.

Cacao is the principal element in chocolate and various kinds of confectionery. As an article of food it is very nutritious, healthful and stimulating. The "butter" of cacao is well known in medicine, and is used in the cure of skin diseases of all kinds with good results. The shells of the seed roasted and ground, are used for 'cocoa," a drink well known in the countries of the temperate zone, but used here only by the poorer classes.

The pulp of the pod is used as fodder for animals. The popularity of cacao rapidly increases wherever it is once introduced, and neither fluctuations in prices nor attempts to substitute other products, supposed to have affected its use in localities where it is once well known. The active principle of cacao is theobroma, a powerful organic reagent.

The possibilities of the cacao market are vast. The consumption has not yet begun, or at least made any headway, in the Asiatic countries, among which Japan, Persia and British India may some day become important customers. Chocolate is scarcely known in Oceanica, the British colonies of Hawaii. Even Russia, Turkey and Greece are but recently becoming familiar with the product. As there has always been a ready market no special effort has been made to extend the demand to new countries.

While some progress has been made in the utilization of the shell and pulp. no attempt of importance has been made to manufacture the product for export, although there is plenty of vanitla and sugar available for the preparation, and the profits would be considerable. Ecuadorian cacao, being somewhat bitter, has an advantage over that of other countries in assimilating a larger amount of sugar in the manufacture of chocolate, thereby reducing the cost of the product.

The consumption of cacao is increasing at the rate of 5 or 6 per cent. annually, and inside of eight or ten years the demand will be greater than the supply. The attempts to introduce cacao on a large scale in various other tropical countries have not been attended with favorable results. In no other part of the world can its cultivation be brought to the flourishing condition which prevails in Ecuador, where there is still a vast extent of land suitable for new and productive estates. All that is necessary is capital and energy, which will be wel-comed, and which will surely come when the rallway to Quito is built, for no line of agriculture shows such tempting returns. COUCH SYRUP Cures a Cough or Cold at once.
